About the University

Dr. Ram Manohar Lohiya National Law University is one amongst the premier national law schools in India. The idea behind establishing such institutes was to provide India with globally competitive legal profession, deft and accountable in manifold aspects of profession and citizenry. We are proud that RMLNLU has withstood the tempestuous times since its establishment and is progressing towards realizing its true potential, its pinnacle.

The students of this institute stand true to the ethos behind its establishment, and are seeking newer horizons to conquer. Situated in the south-western part of Lucknow, the campus is a veritable mellifluous mélange of nature and modernity. The place is marked by eye-leashing lush greenery and ornately competent modern infrastructure; one cannot help but be wooed away by the sheer brilliance of this cohabitation.

The 40-acre campus is replete with all the facilities important for quality education. We have audio-visual equipments in our classrooms, wi-fi connectivity, an auditorium which seats over 2000 people and a very well stocked library which has its own library portal. The spacious campus has lush lawns and shops to aid in normal course of life. The college is home to almost 800 pupils from every corner of the country. The teachers here are very competent in their fields, some having quite an authority in their subjects. The college has been a host of many national competitions and seminars. It has gained recognition and has been commended for its record.

The college since its inception, has striven for academic excellence and path breaking legal research. RILEC 2018 is one such platform through which the college evinces its holistic determination towards realization of this aim. RILEC 2018, much like its predecessors, would be thundering success and would pave the way for novel ideas to sprout and newer thoughts to emerge and be expressed.

RILEC 2017

RMLNLU Legal Essay Writing Competition 2017 was the fifth edition of RMLNLU's flagship essay writing event. This completion had International Arbitration Law as its main theme and various sub-themes over which the participants wrote impressive essays. The essay competition had six sub-themes from the field of:

- Shift towards East in International Arbitration
- Sanitizing Arbitral Awards- Transparency v. Confidentiality
- Enforceability of Arbitral Award
- Appointment of Arbitrators
- Third-Party Funding in International Arbitration
- Arbitrability of Competition Law Issues.

The aforementioned sub-themes covered a wide range of issues of contemporary relevance and the competition received numerous outstanding entries. The esteemed judges decided to crown Meenal Garg from University Institute of Legal Studies, Punjab University as the winner. Neelam Meshram from National Law Institute University, Bhopal & Prakhar Agarwal from Maharashtra National Law University, Nagpur were declared as joint runner-ups. Along with the cash prizes totaling INR 30,000, they also received Certificate of Recognition and a Letter of Appreciation from our judges.

The competition certainly augmented knowledge of many and certainly was successful in its endeavor. Thus the intention behind organizing such an event paid off in form of increased acuity in the particular field of law and the fresh perspectives of prospective lawyers in delving with issues of current relevance.

RILEC 2018

The Journal Committee at Dr. Ram Manohar Lohiya National Law University, Lucknow is pleased to announce the sixth edition of the RMLNLU International Legal Essay Writing Competition (RILEC 2018). The theme for this year's edition is International Cyber Law.

Theme

“In only a few years, the Internet has revolutionized trade, health, education, and, indeed, the very fabric of human communication and exchange. Moreover, its potential is far greater than what we have seen in the relatively short time since its creation. In managing, promoting, and protecting its presence in our lives, we need to be no less creative than those who invented it. Clearly, there is a need for governance, but that does not necessarily mean that it has to be done in the traditional way, for something that is so very different.” – K. Annan

It is said that internet has made the world smaller than ever. The internet revolution has passed the barriers of everyday life to redefining the way states interact with each other. While this has been welcoming for the global community, it has also given rise to questions which seem to be bigger than ever.

Cyberwarfare and state-sponsored cybercrimes are on the rise and the practice of espionage has entered into economic borders with nations indulged into the illegitimate exploitation of one another's cyberspace. Hence, a pressing concern for an international treaty to regulate cyberlaw across the globe seems important. Considering its nature and growing popularity in armed conflicts, cyber-attacks are also proving to be a looming challenge to the humanitarian law.

In amidst of these global issues, new developments in the field of technology demand legal regulation. This brings us to take notice of the problems that transnational nature of blockchain has created with respect to conflict resolution. Technological developments have also presented new cybersecurity issues in encryption of data. In addition to this, electronic devices have become a convenient tool to breach the privacy of individual and the protest is largely valid. These concerns have tightly gripped and encompassed the global community and addressal of these issues is the pressing need of the present time.

In order to encourage the young minds, come up with ideas and academic work on the present subject, International Cyber Law forms the theme of the 6th RMLNLU International Legal Essay Writing Competition.

Sub-Themes:

1. Role of Intergovernmental Organizations and Communities in the Development of International Cyber Law
2. Legal Issues in Encryption of Data and Transmission of Such Encrypted Data
3. Privacy Threats in Cyberspace: How Should the Law Intervene?
